Howdy, Texans!

As residents of the Alamo City gear-up to show their Pride this July 4th weekend, they do so while our brothers and sisters in Ft. Worth deal with the exact same harassment and prejudice that the folks at the Stonewall Inn in New York battled 40 years ago. It is fitting, then, that River City residents will be shouting louder and prouder than they've ever shouted before in the face of the ongoing bias that the world-at-large has against our GLBT community.

And that first shout comes from This Week's covermen, Phillip Barcena and James Poindexter - partners in life and proud members of the Gay Pride SA committee that organized this week's activities. They are joined in our cover feature by several popular members of the San Antonio GLBT community who have all kindly taken a moment to share with us exactly what Pride means to them.

In addition, we've got features on two divine DJ's that'll be mixing the melodies at celebratory events in Dallas and San Antonio this weekend. First up, blending the bass that'll make you shout for Freedom is the incomparable Seth Cooper, who's lending his rather significant talents with a metronome to SIN Parties' July 4th extravaganza at Dallas' Excuses, AKA Club One. Meanwhile, down the I-35, the extraordinary Lydia Prim proves that you don't have to have a personal metronome to play really hot music as she takes to the booth at Heat to help round-off San Antonio's Pride festivities.

We've also got our usual blend of content and commentary that's made This Week in Texas somewhat of a tradition in the Lone Star state - content and commentary that includes our renowned This Week's Tea feature, which This Week includes coverage of the Million Man March and Houston's Pride festivities; our much-ogled TWT Files - which, This Week, focuses on a man so incredibly hot that he's being blamed for the record high temperatures the state's been experiencing lately; Chris Allen's Groovelines which, This Week, is a tribute to the late, great Michael Jackson; and This Week's Best Bets and 'Scopes features which, when combined, not only tell you the best place to go for a little fun and frolicking, but also tell you whether or not you'll get lucky while frolicking.

All of that, dear readers, in a tastefully-designed and terribly-handy magazine that takes a licking and comes back printing every single time. Or, something like that...

Don't forget our friends in Ft. Worth!

Until next week....we're This Week in Texas!

Over at ITunes, and hot for digital download, is the amazing and extensive catalog from the former king of pop, the late Michael Jackson. As you all know, Michael Jackson died last Thursday afternoon in LA. Sad news. It was a very bad week for white celebrities. First Ed McMann, then Farrah, and finally MJ. If you didn't know Michael Jackson had died – I am very sorry to be the bearer of bad news – now go crawl back under your rock.

GROON

As a member of the music biz and a long time DJ, I gotta say - that man was an amazing talent. Michael Jackson's music moved us. Very often, to the dance floor. Even be-fore the days of digital editing MJ was releasing 12 inch singles with extended or edited versions of his songs. Before that, some were written just for the dance floor. Like "Don't Stop 'Til You Get Enough" or "Wanna Be Starting Something" - both clocking in at over 6 minutes long. As the 80's passed and the 90's came about and computers came into play, the remixers and producers took Michael Jackson's brilliant song writing and vision to an even higher level. Some of the best house I have ever heard had his vocals on top of it. I still have an entire crate of Michael Jackson dance records from back in the day. As a DJ, I have been playing his songs throughout my entire career. And even before then, I was fan. Diggin' the dude's funky grooves. Jealous of those stellar moves. I still remember buying Thriller on vinyl at the mall when it was released, when I was a kid. MJ had his stuff reworked by some of the best remixers to ever produce dance music on this planet. The short list includes Todd Terry, Frankie Knuckles, Moby, Paul Oakenfold, Hani, Tony Moran, Ben Liebrand, Civilles & Cole, Steve "Silk" Hurley.

David Morales, Kenny Dope, DJ Bobo, E-Smoove, Basement Boys, Roger Sanchez, Jungle Brothers, Love To Infinity, Junior Vasquez, and even Pete Heller. To name a few. Several of these can be heard on the MJ compilation Blood On The Dance Floor / History In The Mix that was released in 1997 I was really looking forward to Michael Jackson's new material. And/ous to hear his voice again on the dance floor, singing new stuff. Looking forward to finding out what remixers were chosen for the singles and georgene to their interpretations. Curious to know, would this grant Michael Jackson comeback? Well, it seems like maybe Karma or Mother Nature had other plans for MJ. So, let's raise a glass of Jesus Juice in Michael Jackson's memory and, for a moment, remember him as the great performer that he was. God speed MJ, thanks for the tunes. Now stay away from my nephews you freaky ghost!

Deep in the heart of Texas, that is the Groovelines for now. You know the golden rule boys and girls - play it loud and disturb the neighbors!

Remember, life might not always by the party you had hoped for, but while you're here you might as well during

"Splash Days' After Hours clearly stole the show for the entire weekend. Seth could be the next major DJ to come out of Austin on the heels of such greats as Belmares and Tank." --- Just Circuit

Quite a compliment from the source for circuit parties and gay events around the world, yet so richlydeserved. Seth truly has become the darling of the dance circuit, and it's not just his mixes that are improving - Seth is also conceivably one of the top five hottest-LOOKING DJ's in the country. But, then again, we've always been impressed with that Fratboy look. Seth is the artist, his blissful blending a water colored palette that is both intoxicating and mesmerizing - and masterfully produced.

Recognizing a veritable prodigy of the mixing board, Gay Internet Radio Live asked Cooper to join their online radio network in 2006, thus allowing Seth's sets to be heard streaming live, side-by-side with other big names such as Randy Bettis, Eddle Baez, Lydia Prim, Star 69 Records, and Joe G. And, in 2007, Seth had the second most online hits, only missing the #1 spot to the Lesbian Lounge!

It's the energy...the intensity...the passion that Seth has for music that have made him Austin's fastest rising-star - and why he continues to gain a larger and larger following. With plenty of new tracks, Seth is always ready to deliver the high energy vocals, under-laced with fierce, tribal drums and a hint of Latin influence, that keeps you dancing. And, tapping into production, Seth has had plenty of private mixes and mashups played by some of the industries' top talents at premier parties and venues throughout the nation. He has also had the pleasure of learning from some of his musical inspirations - inspirations that include DJ Trypsin, Roland Belmares, Peter Rauhofer, and Manny Lehman.

In 2006, Gay Internet Radio Live (GIRL) asked him to join their online radio network, thus allowing Seth's sets to be heard streaming live, side by side, next to other big names such as Randy Bettis, Eddie Baez, Lydia Prim, Star 69 Records, and Joe G. And, in 2007, Seth had the second most online hits, only missing the #1 spot to the Lesbian Lounge!

"Week after week, Seth continues to amaze his audience on GIRL Radio. A fresh face, with a fresh take on blending beats, has attracted the attention of industry leaders. Seth is a remarkable, young, talent and the future is a bright one for this superstar." --Devan Christopher (President of G.I.R.L.)

Within 3 years of moving to Austin, Seth headlined at Suede Lounge (San Antonio), Oil Can Harry's (Austin), Octo-Tea 12 and 13 (Austin), Tin Room (Dallas), Excuses/Club One (Dallas), Guava Lamp (Houston), Meteor (Houston), and at various Equality Texas and Human Rights Campaign fund raisers. He also was on the lineup for Surge (Tampa Bay), Gay Days (Orlando), and the kick-off party for Jungle 15 & 16 (Houston).

"The reviews are in and the boys loved it!" - Ron Silva (Suede Lounge) Velvet Mafia

Then, in August of 2008, Seth headlined his first major party over Labor Day Weekend: Splash Days After Hours' Adult Swim party. The energetic, powerful, and fresh sound that Seth delivered proved that he could DJ a venuepacked, high-profile party. From this performance alone, Just Circuit labeled Seth as one of the next great DJ's to come out of Austin on the heels of Roland Belmares and Michael Tank (other well-known Austinites). Throughout 2008, Seth toured through Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Orlando, and Tampa and to end the year, traveled to the opposite side of the country to debut in Seattle at Cuff Complex, delivering a spectacular, surprising, and energetic performance to the masses that were skeptical of an untested DJ; the party ended at 4am with a packed dance floor applauding!

"The dance floor was completely packed well through last call and all the way up until the 3am closing time. DJ Seth Cooper's energetic beats propelled us on an intense journey. Somehow he is able Cooper's energetic beats propelled us on an intense journey. Somehow he is able to maintain and carry our emotions from very high to even higher, never letting up for us to even catch a breath. This was classic circuit at its best but from modern beats and not the watered down Top-40 HiNRG we have recently grown accustomed to. Most of those in my group went out to the Cuff skeptical of a DJ they have never heard of before, but every one of us ended the night hooked - all the way up until closing time - as new believers in DJ Seth Cooper."—SeattleGayScene.com

This year, Just Circuit nominated Seth as the "Best Up and Coming DJ", and for "Best After Hours Party" (Splash Days), sharing that nomination with the world class events One Mighty Party's Arabian Nights and Winter Party. On March 1st, Just Circuit announced Seth Cooper as the winner for the "Best Up and Coming DJ" category and what proves to be Seth's most accomplished moment to date! Seth was also nominated in 2009 as "Best DJ in Austin" by the Austin Chronicle!

Tomorrow night, July 4, the dashing and debonair Cooper returns to Dallas to spin for SIN Parties "Freedom" at Excuses (Club One.) SIN Parties has, in the relatively short time counted by the circuit scene, become a major Metroplex powerhouse for the hosting and promotion of circuit events, and counts the Purple Party and Splash Days Austin as significant partners and supporters. Their events are always well-attended and expertly-run, and the addition of Seth Cooper to its roster of DJ's bodes well for the future of both.

Whether it's his looks or the masterful way that he fuses music together, Seth Cooper will, quite literally, enchant you. Check him out at djsethcooper.com, or on Facebook at facebook.com/pages/DJ-Seth-Cooper. And to learn more about Dallas' SIN Parties, visit their website at sin-parties.com.

Name: Robert Stahl

Occupation: Happy hour bartender at Alexandre's, writer, superhero

Biggest perk of my job/what I love most about my job: I love the fast pace of bartending, and I think I'm addicted to the social interaction. It also gives me tons of stuff to write about!

Passions/Hobbies: Gosh, I'll read just about anything! Comic books, novels, poems, appliance manuals, the dirty stuff people write on bathroom walls...

Something few people (until now) know about me: I get to write about my experiences as a bartender over at Examiner.com. You can find me over there as the 'Dallas Bartender Examiner'. Hope you check out my stuff!

Biggest perk of my job: Getting to have lots of fun while I'm working, and having hot guys throwing themselves (and their money) at me-- and having a partner who's not threatened by it!

If I had a millions dollars: I'd open a bar somewhere, get that going, and then spend the rest of my time writing about it all. Oh, and I'd try to buy every Prince bootleg in the known universe.

Best thing about being in a relationship: It's wonderful to have someone that you can share your life with, to laugh with when things are going well, or to lean on until things get better. Jim's just the best!

MEMORIES OF PRIDE

San Antonio has a lot to be proud of this Pride season. Not only is the dream of a cohesive, functional and attractive gay Strip finally coming to fruition, but the Grand Marshall of this year's Pride Parade just happens to be the newly-elected Mayor of San Antonio, Julian Castro - a first-ever show of support from the top elected official in America's seventh largest city.

More than that, San Antonio has its GLBT citizens to be proud of. Warm, loving, compassionate individuals...always ready to lend a helping hand - that's what community is all about, and San Antonio's got it!

We asked several of Our Town's most-visible and -beloved personalities to share their memories of San Antonio Pride and to describe what Pride means to them. We hope you'll enjoy their responses.

Phillip Barcena

Phillip was born into a military family in Athens, Greece. He has lived most of his life in San Antonio. He is currently the President of Gay Pride SA and the Vice-President of the San Antonio LGBT Chamber of Commerce. Phillip is currently an educator.

Favorite memory of Pride-

My favorite Pride memory occurred last year when we added the commitment ceremony to the event and we had representatives from each organization and community leaders who gathered together onstage overlooking the large crowd that had gathered to show commitment to ourselves, our significant others, and our community.

Pride means to me...

The gathering of our community and families to celebrate our lives. People often use the word lifestyle. But Pride is a celebration of our lives not lifestyles.

James Poindexter

James is a native San Antonian and is an educator.

Favorite Pride Memory-

My favorite memory of Pride is from this year actually. After the mayor accepted our invitation to be Grand Marshal, there was a bit of a political backlash from inside and outside the Gay community. Some people from certain segments of the straight community claimed that he put the City of San Antonio on shaky moral ground by supporting an "immoral" segment of San Antonio society. Some people in the Gay community criticized us for not recognizing someone from our community and for recognizing someone that we did not know yet was truly going to be fighting for us. But this mayor decided to become the first mayor in San Antonio to actually participate in the Pride parade, much less be Grand Marshal. This is historic. And he announced that decision six days after taking office! And when questioned by the media his response was, "San Antonio is a place for EVERYONE!" I think the mayor was a good choice-a very good choice.

What does Pride mean to me?

To me Pride is a celebration of our lives. It is about our community joining together to celebrate our shared identities. We may be from different socio-economic backgrounds, different ethnicities, different political or religious motivations but together we share an identity of an oppressed class of people that still are marginalized not by what we are but by WHO we are. To me Pride is about celebrating diversity and unity. Our mentors, Zip and Lady Barbara from Houston, passed on to us something that had become their trademark and their code by which they live-Unity in the Community. Gay Pride SA was established to "facilitate the needs of the individual so that the individual can facilitate the needs of the community". This is our motto. When planning a Gay Pride SA event, this is the motto that we keep in the back of our minds. One of my favorite quotes comes from the late lesbian activist and poet Audre Lorde. She said, "It is not our differences but rather our inability to recognize, accept, and celebrate those differences that divides us." So, for me, we still have people losing their jobs because of who they are. We still have people being discriminated against in housing decisions, custody decisions, and people being kicked out of the military because of a shared identity with an oppressed group. We must remain visible. We must remain vigilant in our fight. Pride lets us do that. Pride lets us tell the world, "This is who we are. We are not going away. We are part of your city. We are your neighbors, we are your school board members, we are your teachers, we are your doctors, your lawyers, your gardeners, and the parents of your child's best friend." Pride, to me is about creating Unity in the Community by facilitating the needs of the individuals of our community through recognizing, accepting, and celebrating differences and thereby facilitating the needs of our collective community that is bound by a shared identity.

James and Phillip celebrate 19 years together during Pride month 2009. Together they have survived the trials and tribulations of most married couples. A chance meeting at the Bonham Exchange led to a long relationship that has survived the test of time. Phillip and James are both members of various organizations including Gay Pride SA, the Stonewall Democrats, the Human Rights Campaign, Equality Texas, and the Royal, Sovereign, and Imperial Court of the Alamo Empire.

What is your favorite Pride memory?

When I was in my first parade on a float. Even though we were a small group back then, the support of everyone who came to witness our celebration was beyond anything I could have asked for.

What does Pride mean to you?

Be happy and proud of who you are. Never be ashamed and always hold your head up.

What is your favorite Pride memory?

I was living and performing in Mexico City in 1980, and their pride parade was the most colorful, beautiful and very well organized event I had ever seen and participated in. Here at home, Gay Pride at San Pedro Park 1985-1986.

What does pride mean to you?

First and foremost, self-respect! Embracing and understanding others with camaraderie. True love, Faith, Hope, and most of all Unity! Without these qualities, you are alone.

Billboard reporting DJ (since Oct'94), Lydia Prim, may be the buzzword on every gay circuit boy's lips these days. But she's certainly no newcomer to the turntables. Born in Montgomery, Alabama, she's been playing in the Southern club scene since 1989 when she began her first residency at Pensacola's Office. She quickly earned a loyal Southern fan base between such cities as Birmingham, New Orleans, and Atlanta, playing regional venues like Oz, Backstreet, the Station, and the Bourbon Pub. In May of 1994, Lydia played the main event, Big Top, at Pensacola's Memorial Day Weekend, which began a series of fairly important dance events that included: Chicago's Hearts, Miami's Amnesia, New Orleans' Decadance, and various Hotlanta parties. However, it wasn't until 1999's Folsom Street Festival in San Francisco that Lydia finally earned high accolades on a national level, for her performance at the closing party.

"[I] staunchly refuse to believe that the nation of party boys and girls want to travel to various events all over the U.S. just to hear the same songs played by different DJs,"

She has since become one of the most-liked and talked about DJs in the country... not merely because she's a female in a male-dominated industry, but because she is an incredible artist with, what seems to be, a direct connection to the dance floor. Lydia's style is definitely all her own; incorporating a soulful blend of tribal beats, progressive trance, and the perfectly-timed anthemic vocals... all with a distinctive butch edge. Playing nearly all on vinyl, her mixes are smooth, seamless, and intoxicating...her playful nature and sharp humor always evident in her spinning.

Raf Katigbak of Montreal's Mirror magazine sat down with Lydia Prim to discuss her style, her popularity and whether anyone on Earth will ever catch her in an A-line dress:

"From a distance, with her cap pulled down, it's easy to mistake Alabama-born DJ Lydia Prim for a good of boy instead of a Southern belle - a fact that suits her just fine. For the last 15 years, Prim has been repping the hot and sticky Southern club circuit in a major way. As one of the 150 DJs around the country who 'report' a weekly chart to Billboard for the Hot 100 Dance chart, her mix of tribal beats, anthemic vocals and progressive trance have resulted in residencies in NYC's Twilo, Miami's Salvation and Cincinnati club the Dock, and bookings in every major circuit party in North America - including, of course, the Black & Blue Recovery party this coming Monday. The Mirror quizzed Prim about the Southern gay scene and what she would look like in a skirt.

Raf Katigbak: Aside from New Orleans, I never really hear much about the gay South. How would you characterize the scene in places like Alabama?

Lydia Prim: I am always amazed at what seems to be a somewhat dated and moronic view of us Southerners. People seem to think all of Alabama is hayseed-chewing rednecks and dirt roads. I think the gay community in the South experienced, in the '90s, a bit of their own civil-rights movement. That decade was to us what the '60s were to people of color. We have an annual dance event, Rights of Spring, which raises thousands for the local AIDS organizations, and we have a big Pride celebration in June. If you're looking for a scene outta Deliverance, then you're gonna be disappointed.

RK: When I asked DJ Manny Lehman if he could Queer Eye any DJ in the world, he jokingly said he would choose you. That is, put you in a skirt, put some highlights in your hair and get you to stop smoking - all from love, of course. Would you ever be up for that?

LP: Manny also said I was the only DJ he'd bottom for, so I think I'll pass on the skirt-makeover deal. Really, I should never be caught in a skirt. It's like watching a hockey player try to pull off a sundress or something."

Lydia Prim makes an exclusive San Antonio Pride appearance tomorrow night, July 4, at Heat, where she'll be spinning until the wee hours of Sunday morning. And you can always keep in touch with her - she just adores fans, ya know? - by visiting her on MySpace at myspace.com/Lydia prim.

AUSTIN

As we've shared with you on numerous occasions, we are definitely meat-eaters. That's right, honeys, no Veganism or Vegetarianism here - we just love to fill our mouths with Grade A Prime. Which is just one of the myriad reasons that we also love Charlie's, where prime cuts are on the menu virtually every night of the week - thanks in no small part to Marcy Fletcher and her incredible and delectable Manwatch Dancers. The boyz make the entire concept of eating a singularly sensational idea, and we can assure you that we've never had to add seasoning to any of them. Perfect right out of the pouch, as it were. We caught up with a particularly appetizing foursome just the other night, huddled around our best gal pal Kelly Kline, and can further assure you that our cravings were definitely satisfied. Oh, if you only knew...

While we're on the subject of being satisfied, Jen and Ross over at the Rusty Spurs were kind enough to perform a tasteful floorshow for us when last we entered the Fifth Street funhouse...a little fancy footwork that the dynamic duo quaintly dubbed the Single Ladies Dance done, apparently, whenever tantalizing tempters such as ourselves mosey on up to the bar. Naturally we were flattered that they would perform this virtual mating ritual for us...until we were informed that the dance is actually done whenever an old maid or lizard enters the room. Well, now we're just crushed. Here we were thinking that we had transcended all sexual orientation by attracting two such marvy members of the male and female sexes, only to find out that we were basically being consigned to the scrap heap of humankind because we're of a certain age and still unwed. Excuse us....we're farklempft. Oh, the pain....

Speaking of pain, it's gotta be painful being Bobby Cook. After all, the beauteous beau is not only a feast for the oculars, he's also a multi-talented entertainer that brightens any room that he happens to occupy, especially at Rain, where he toils away at being the best darned host to walk erect. And, between that and how unbelievably full his schedule is, we can only imagine how exhausted he must get, fulfilling his myriad responsibilities and still looking gore and all and all. Naturally, we've offered our services to help him relax after a trying day, but he's thus far proved how fabulously fit he is and hasn't returned our calls. We think it has something to do with the recent appearance of America's Got Talent's very own Britney, Derrick Berry, who we espied canoodling with the dapper dude in a back corner of the club. Knowing Bobby, he's probably gonna be Derrick's new opening act. Hey, he's just that good...

Finally, our best bud Joe, aka Miss Woods, over at OCH got a huge treat recently when he was selected by honcho of the head variety Larry Davis to be Ongina's personal love slave during her stay in the Capital City. Well, actually, he was selected only to be her slave, but we thought sex slave sounded like so much more fun that we took a little bit of artistic license and slapped sex on in there, too. Hey, sex sells...Isaac snapped an iconic image of Joe and Ongina fresh from one of their trendy trysts; he also snapped all of the additional photos of Ongina that you'll discover right on the very next page.

DALLAS

So, we were at Alexandre's the other night, sitting on our stool and ogling This Week's Dude Robert Stahl, when all of a sudden we heard breathless sighs and a few Tantric moans emanating from somewhere behind us and the concentration we were focusing on Robert's chest was quickly broken and we were forced - forced, do you hear - to look for the source of the sounds. Turns out we didn't have to look far, because just a few barstools down sat a fit fella that was not only gaping at Robert's fab form, but was really getting off to the sight of honcho of the head variety Lee and potent potable pourer Alton in the midst of a deep discussion about whether or not Lee's eyes really are bluer than a North Texas sky in December. Fortunately, said fit fella was soon joined by whomever it was that he was waiting for, and we could all get back to the important subjects of cocktails and Robert's body.

Speaking of bodies, there were certainly a lot of them over at the Eagle on Father's Day, when the club followed tradition and hosted its annual Daddy Auction in honor of all things paternal. Expertly emceed by the devastating Messy Panocha, and judged by four manly men that included International Mister Leather and Dallas' very own Jeffrey Payne, the contest fully reminded us how important it is to have a Daddy... particularly one that shares one's orientation, doncha know. Best of all, it all benefited AIDS Services of Dallas, which makes the fact that we broke the bank trying to finally have a Daddy a whole lot more palatable.

While we're on the subject of orientation, we completely lose ours during Friday deliveries of the magazine to Mickey's 'cause there's this really sexy brown-haired hawtie slinging refreshing adult beverages like there was no tomorrow and completely taking our minds off the task at hand (we said at hand, not in-hand, honeys.) Enquiring minds want to know all about this beyorgeous beau - and whether or not he'd be interested in a TWT Files photo session. We'll keep you posted...

Oh, before we forget, the Round-up welcomes the sexy swingers of the annual Beat the Heat softball tournament to a very special banquet tonight that's bound to be a helluva lot more fun than gnoshing on take-out and watching WWE SmackDown on the big screen. Plus the fact, there are all of those cups to think about...

We were at a complete loss for words the other day when we popped in to Pekers to have a wee little drinky to calm our nerves - which were in a high state of anxiety because it was still light outside - and discovered the awesome attributes and terrific talents of daytime mixmaster Lee, he of the nummy nipple, perky pecs and perfect pits set. As could be expected when one looks like that, he was surrounded by a veritable army of admirers that included Ignacio and George and, while they canoodled, we immediately began an IV drip of Jager Bombs with a push of apple martini to make sure we were totally hydrated. Trumormongers are mongering that the dee-lish dude may someday drop trou for a photo session for this very magazine - an event that we will consider to be nothing short of the second coming. Ahem.

Finally, a cornucopia of kudos goes out to the estimated 1300 Dallasites that partook in the Million Gay March last weekend. For Brett Vandercaptured images of the awesome event, please refer to the page immediately after this one...

FT. WORTH

As we go to press, shades of Stonewall are being drawn on Ft. Worth's newly-opened Rainbow Lounge, where the cops - on the eve of the anof niversary the Stonewall Riots entered the club, rousted and harassed patrons, forced many customers face-down on the ground outdoors and arrested numerous people in a sign that nothing nothing, do you hear - has changed in the 40 years since New York City's finest did the same thing to a similar group at a gay bar on the city's famed Christopher Street. Shame on the Ft Worth police department, and shame on the official that orchestrated this action. We offer solidarity to our dear friends and the many patrons at the Rainbow...this madness has got to stop!

HOUSTON

For the not-politically-motivated amongst you, the name Lane Lewis will probably mean absolutely nothing to you. But, to those who live for MSNBC election night reports and voting booths. Lane is definitely in your sights as a member of the new breed of elected officials that are changing the face of Bayou City politics. The up-andcoming politico is now running to be the new District A City Councilman and, with an impressive roster of supporters and a curriculum vitae that surpasses those of many a seasoned politician, he could soon be getting a City Hall parking pass and changing things for the better in the district Lewis was recently feted with a fundraiser at the coolest place on Earth, South Beach, and we feel only too-privileged that he and two of his ardent supporters took a moment to pause for our Cruise Camera. Best of luck to Lane this November from your friends at This Week's Tea.

A huge, really big "Get Well Soon" goes out to our dear friend Ed over at EJ's. As many of you know, the suave swell has been having a dilly of a time with his health, and so hasn't been as visible in the Bayou City as we like him to be. But knowing Ed, his unplanned sabbatical from both EJ's and In & Out won't last much longer, and he'll soon be back enjoying the comforts of one of the best club patios in the Lone Star state. We luvs ya, Ed!

We also love our buddy Tim, over at Male Uwear - and not just because his beau-tique happens to stock the hottest underwear and swimwear fashions - which means that we get to stand and ogle all the hawties that are trying them on, doncha know. No, we love Tim because he's such a valued and important part of the Houston GLBT community, and always does whatever's possible to help those in need. And that's the type of person that WE need...

Finally, our other very good friends over at Hollywood reacted more than appropriately to the devastating news that the King of Pop. Michael Jackson, had died of coronary failure by lowering the Flag Rainbow and that other one with stripes to half-staff in his memory. Between him, Farrah Fawcett and the dude that sold Oxiwhatever on TV, it hasn't been the best of times for pop culture.

Thank Gaea for the drink specials at Crockers.

SAN ANTONIO

It's Gay Pride weekend in San Antonio, and gay and gay-friendly businesses throughout the Alamo City are hauling out the Cuervo, nacho platters and really groovy beads to let the world know just how proud we in SA really are. One of the reasons that we're really proud is the good work done by local organizations such as the Alamo Bear Club that spend each and every day of the year working to better the lives of Our Town's vibrantly varied members. In fact, just recently the Bears descended upon the San Antonio AIDS Foundation's marketing maven Wendy Scholl to present her with a hefty check in the amount of $730, which represents the proceeds from one of the myriad fundraisers that the beefy boyz host so regularly. An especially proud "Thank you!" goes out to SAAF and the Bears for everything they do for our community.

And while we're on the subject of community, despite the online garbage that was levied at it by people that should know better, Erica Andrews' 2009 Miss Texas Continental pageant went on without a hitch as Continental owner Jim Flint, the currently-reigning Miss Continental Tulsi and a bevy of beauteous babes from the Continental family arrived at Heat to select this year's new Texas monarch. The Cruise Camera was naturally on hand to witness the pomp and pageantry, and managed to lens iconic images of the beloved Kourtney Devereaux and the adored Tommie Ross canoodling with Mr. Flint, as well as a backstage photo of Miss Ross and the justmoments-away-from-having-a-new-bejeweledheaddress loveliness of the new MTC, Raquel Ross. It's so nice when we can keep things in the family, doncha think? Our congratulations go out to both Raquel and Erica for yet another shining example of a professional pageant.

Speaking of professional, that's exactly what we've always called Roach and Juan over at the Saint, not just because they know how to sling potent potables perfectly, but also because they do it all with courtesy and a smile - attributes that seem to be lacking from so much of the planet's population these days. It's one of the many reasons the divine dance hall has been such a popular party palace for so many years...well, that and the fact that you can see fab femme mimics performing acts of satire, pantomime and the dance just about every night of the week. And because sometimes, if you're really lucky and Roach is going commando, you can also see just a tinch of schwinging goin' on - which is a most wonderful thing, indeed.

Yet another wonderful thing in SA is the 2015 over on San Pedro, the longtime libation lounge that's been satisfying the liquid and libido needs of the city for more years than we care to remember. Even though much of the action this weekend will be focused on the Main Strip, you can be sure that it'll be just as hot at the 2015, thanks to the presence of its inimitable staff of studiys - you just won't have to break into a sweat to enjoy it. Got those A/C units just a-crankin', honeys.
