GROOVELINES

by DJ Chris Allen

Howdy disco citizens! It's time for your weekly dose of Groovelines – your source for what's hot and hip in the land of electronic dance music and beyond. It's also my b'day. Let the festivities commence!

 iTunes

Over at iTunes, and hot for digital download, is the new full length album Animal from Ke$ha. You may think you know Ke$ha – her debut single TiKToK has been blowing up the Billboard digital singles and iTunes Top 10 charts for the past few months. It is an international smash, hitting the iTunes Top 10 in 12 different countries. And yes, that's Ke$ha on Flo Rida's No. 1 smash Right Round too. But you have no fucking idea until you hear Animal, released on January 5th.

Ke$ha, who co-wrote every track on the album, describes Animal as "electro pop magic," and indeed the album is an edgy collection of hard hitting electro pop songs, made all the more irresistible by their high-octane punk energy and Ke$ha's frank lyrics and irreverent attitude.

"I want my music to be fun, unapologetic, rowdy, quirky, humorous, and interesting," she says, "but with substance behind it. I am an emotional person underneath all my fronting. I want people to listen to it and feel like they can relate."

her first single. Her first single is TIK TOK, - a playful party anthem she co-wrote with her executive producer Dr. Luke (Gottwald) (Katy Perry, Kelly Clarkson, Britney Spears) who discovered Ke$ha and brought her to RCA Records, which signed her in February. Ke$ha came up with the lyrics for TIK TOK after waking up surrounded by her many gorgeous, naked, female friends and thinking: "This must be weird. P. Diddy feels like every morning!"

Since being released to radio in early October, TIK TOK is the No. 1 greatest airplay gained at Top 40, outpacing smash singles by Jay-Z and Taylor Swift and entering into the Top 5 on the Billboard Hot 100 chart. The track has sold more than 850,000 copies since its release on iTunes, while its accompanying video was an iTunes Video of the Week in early November. So far it has peaked at #2 on the iTunes Singles Chart and the SoundScan Digital Chart. People Magazine dubbed TIK TOK a Download, Rolling Stone's Top 500 List, Entertainment Weekly's Top 100 eye and Ke$ha has already been named by Women's Wear Daily. It has topped the singles charts in New Zealand, and Canada and is #1 on iTunes in 12 countries.

HOROSCOPES

BY JAIME

Aries (March 21-April 19)

Your life is in a state of flux; some changes you will initiate yourself, others might occur unexpectedly. High energy levels will help you get through all the extra demands that come your way. You have a clear vision of the long-term future and the eclipse at the top of your chart places a strong emphasis on your personal and professional goals. Don't hold back now, give it up now.

Taurus (April 20-May 20)

Someone is pushing you to the point where you can't think straight. Each thought you have, you feel you need to double-examine to know you're doing the right thing. It's as if someone or something is shaking up your life and is making you feel indecisive and uncertain. What you really need is some time alone to get your mind around certain issues, so pack this weekend pack your trick bag, and have some fun.

Gemini (May 21-June 22)

Continue to keep an eye on the property section of the Internet or a newspaper. Even if you weren't planning to move, you might feel drawn to a place that will meet both your practical and spiritual needs. A grant, funding or a loan might at last come through after some frustrating delay. If you're thinking about getting together with friends in the weekend, all the arrangements fall together so easily. Stay clear of butch hairdressers.

Cancer (June 23-July 22)

Just because a close friend does not approve of a romantic entanglement don't think you have to end it. Who you choose as a partner is entirely up to you and any true friend will be glad that you are happy. If you're single, an intense flirtation could move into the physical realm this week and what a fantastic outlet this provides for all your pent-up passion. Be cuddly today and possibly as fluffy as possible.

"I can't help it... I gotta tell ya.
Welcome to One Pastrami
Center in Austin, Texas.
Katz's home of big drinks & great food for over 25 years."

Leo (July 23-August 22)

Even if the week begins with you feeling sluggish and lacking in energy, don't think this will continue. In fact your health is about to get a big boost courtesy of the new moon in your sixth house and Mercury about to turn direct at the end of the week. If a close friend or lover voices a few worries about the future, be gentle and find the words to appease their fears. It isn't a good idea to go out, having a good time this week if it means leaving your loved ones on their own.

Virgo (August 23-September 22)

A new relationship could take you by surprise when never before have you felt so at ease with someone so quickly. You might be tempted to pull back a wee bit from a heavy romantic or sexual liaison that's getting almost too hot to handle. Before taking any drastic steps and confusing your partner, relax and listen to your intuition. Pickles are a source of joy for you this week.

Libra (September 23-October 22)

Other people getting angry when things go wrong make you feel nervous and uneasy. In some areas you might prefer to work on your own and work through problems quietly and patiently. You might even take some of your work home with you when for the first half of the week especially, you will work best in a family type setting. The color blue will give you cause for resentment this week.

Scorpio (October 23-November 21)

Someone you work with or see regularly may take your friendliness the wrong way and make a pass at you. If this is someone you do actually fancy you've got to seize this chance before it slips away. If you're already in a relationship and this is truly a misunderstanding, try to be gentle with them when you turn them down. I sense a feeling of delight in you.

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21)

Don't try to do too much too quickly as the week begins as you can get overly enthusiastic and have a tendency to burn out. There are others who are just as capable who might volunteer to take over some of your commitments. You're tempted to turn them down but don't. Take time out today to contemplate, and try to make sure that you are very loveable.

Capricorn (December 22-January 19)

Although Mercury continues retrograde in your sign for a wee while longer, positive developments this week will give you the confidence to push ahead with new projects. Ideas are shared and people who have been awkward are showing signs of becoming more co-operative. There's no harm in taking the day off. If you feel ill a visit to the doctor could be in store. I do not think this horoscope means what you think it means.

Aquarius (January 20-February 18)

Juggling professional and personal responsibilities will see you working round the clock as the week begins. The good news is, the pressure will soon ease and by the weekend you will get the time you desperately need to sort out some private business. Beauty and misery are a package pair for you today.

Pisces (February 19-March 20)

Instead of being content aiming for just a few long-term goals, your ambitions are increasing. All this makes it more difficult for you to focus on any one specific area. It might be sensible now to remove old burdens and tie up loose-ends before starting on anything new. Go with the flow and let people take advantage of you, get them back when they least expect it.

My Wendy Williams Experience: How You Doin'?

Richard Mungula

I first heard Wendy Williams while living in New York; I used to listen to her radio show at work on Hot 97 WPLJ. I appreciated her no nonsense interviews with celebrities. It's no secret that her on-air spats with celebrities kept listeners on the edge of their seats. Most notably was her spat with one of pop music's fiercest divas Whitney Houston on January 20, 2003. Wendy caused controversy while interviewing the Diva on her alleged drug habits and tumultuous marriage to Bobby Brown. At several points in the interview, Houston berated Wendy with expletives and told Williams "if this were back in the day in Newark I'd meet you outside, but not now, because I'm a lady with class." With all that in mind I was excited when I heard that Wendy was in talks to have her own talk show. So fast-forward to July 13th, 2008. The Wendy Williams show debuts on Fox and most of its affiliated stations. I knew then that on my next trip back to New York I would have to pay the show a visit, and I did.

The process for getting tickets is not a complicated one, with a simple click of the mouse at www.wendywilliamstvshow.com you can pick a date on which you would like to see a live taping of the show. The shows are usually booked up to three months in advance. I requested tickets back in August 2009 for the November 12th taping. Since that was the only day I would be able to attend. The show tapes live Monday thru Thursday; the Friday show is taped on Thursday. I didn't even think I was going to get tickets for the show, it was November 8th and I still hadn't received a confirmation. So I threw the idea right out of my head. I said to Hell with Wendy Williams I'm going to see the ladies of the View. But then on November 11th Bam! I got my confirmation email. I had 2 tickets to the Wendy Williams Show. The initial email was followed by a second email that explained what the theme of the show would be, with the rules and regulations that must be followed. If you watch the show you know there is always something going on. "Funky Shoe Day" was the theme for the taping I was attending. They are very serious about the "theme" if you do not comply you won't be let in.

On the day of the 12th we had to be there at 11:30am for the 2:00pm taping. Once you arrive to the studio you get in line, then one of the producers comes around to check and make sure you are on the list. Once you have been confirmed you go to this pink waiting room which is covered with Wendy Williams pictures and a huge sign that reads "How You Doin'?" There is a table with complimentary coffee and donuts then another producer comes around and gives you a form to fill out if you want to be part of the "Ask Wendy" segment of the show. Then after about 20 minutes they start escorting you into the studio, which is much smaller than it looks on tv. Once everyone has been assigned to their seat a DJ starts to spin the latest and some classic hits to get the crowd pumped and ready to go. You are encouraged to go down onto the set and dance. It's a real dance club vibe; everybody is dancing and having a good time. The only thing missing were the cocktails. You are aloud to take pictures of the set and a dance contest ensues, it's pretty cool. About 20 minutes later the music goes off and it's time to start the show.

Oh yeah! "Funky Shoe Day" was cancelled Wendy got an exclusive interview with Chris Brown and the show was revamped to accommodate this last minute happening. The incomparable Diahann Carroll was also on the show, which was much more exciting to me. All in all I would say that the "Wendy Williams Experience" was a wonderful experience. I encourage anyone who is planning a trip to New York to look into getting tickets to this "Hot Mess" of a show. You won't regret it.

Name:
QSanAntonio.com, San Antonio's online GLBT newsmagazine

What we do:

Now in its fifth year, QSanAntonio.com has worked to close a "news gap" that exists in the city's GLBT community. We frequently generate news stories that are later picked up by local, mainstream media outlets. Many of last year's local gay news stories were published on QSanAntonio.com before appearing in any other media.

Something that people may not know about you:

QSanAntonio received the Community Leadership Award from the San Antonio Stonewall Democrats. In 2009 the San Antonio LGBT Chamber of Commerce presented their Media Award to QSanAntonio.com.

Community outreach:

QSanAntonio.com has served as a media sponsor for the San Antonio AIDS Foundation's Webb Party, the Human Rights Campaign Gala Dinner, PrideFest, the Scary Fairy Block Party, the Alamo City Men's Chorale concerts and the Alamo City Men's Block Party and Parade. QSanAntonio also provides free public relations services to select GLBT non-profits.

Political participation for our community is not as good as it could be. QSanAntonio believes that all GLBT citizens must vote in every election. With political power comes greater acceptance. We must not remain an invisible minority. Register to vote and make your voice heard!

San Antonio is lucky enough to have a quality Web site, QSanAntonio.com, that major Texas cities like Austin, Houston and San Antonio don't have. The Web site, a project by activist Sam Sanchez, is marking on your browser." — John Wright, News Editor, Dallas Voice

What story that QSanAntonio won't cover?

QSanAntonio.com does not publish news stories in the past four years that we could not publish because we did not want to go on the record as being gay, even when they were. We do not publish stories if they are comfortable with being in an article on our site.

AUSTIN TEA

Did someone remember to bring the honey and lemons? We've got the Tea ready and let me tell you, it is HOT HOT HOT! Sit down and take a quick peek at everyone we saw and where we went!

The first stop on our tour of the Capitol City was Charlie's Austin at 1301 Lavaca Street. As always, our dear friend and head honcho of the establishment, David Green, was waiting for our arrival with his friend Scott. He always makes us feel so special and this day was no different. You see, we were out to watch the Longhorns play some ball and David wanted to make sure we had the best seat in the house. There were plenty of fans in the house rooting on the boys including our friends Jeff and Ben. Even though the game didn't go exactly as planned, David wanted to make sure we still had a great time and planned for some great halftime entertainment. After the second quarter, Javier from the Men of Manwatch came out and showed us his version of a Longhorn. Needless to say, everyone didn't really care about the score of the football game anymore!

Since we were in the mood for dancers to entertain us, we decided to swing by the famed ladies bar of Austin, Sister's Edge II. You see, those girls really know how to have a fabulous time! Right when we walked in, our good friend Sasha showed us her school spirit and gave us a quick smile. She looked just precious, so of course we had to snap a shot so everyone could see. On the very top of our to-do list was to grab a cocktail (of course), so we slid over to see our favorite Lady of the Libations, Miss Brenda. As always Miss Brenda pretends to hate the camera, but of course you can tell by her smile that she's not quite as shy as she pretends. Caught ya Brenda!!

After saying bye to the girls, it was time to head over to Seventh Street and check on our good friends at Rusty Spurs. Unfortunately, Janitor Jim was out in California soaking up the sun (with some young cabana boy we're sure), so we didn't get a chance to grab a photo of him. Don't worry Jim, your time is coming! Instead we ran into two of our other favorite "ladies." Alix Courtney and Brooke Cassidy were out and about entertaining the folks of Rusty Spurs all night long. Sorry we missed the show! Our friends Crail and Drew, however, were there to catch it in all its glory. These two handsome young men gave us all the gossip about the show and reminded us to check out Coco Peru next week. Thank goodness they reminded us, because somehow it completely slipped our minds. See you next week!

AUSTIN TEA

Fourth Street was calling our name and we just had to answer. The next stop on our night about town was the famed OCH. The always lively Larry was on hand as soon as we walked in to make sure we had a great time, along with Austin Icon Marc Katz. Marc dropped his famous tag line "Katz's Never Closes" as we sashayed by and we couldn't help but smile. We grabbed a cocktail and said hi to all our buddies behind the bar. Much to our surprise, the infamous Rebecca Havemeyer and her bosom buddy Mitzie showed up moments after we did. Turns out they had been following us all night and missed us at each bar. As we were catching up on all the latest news, happy hour bartender Dane walked by and we just had to grab a photo of this motley crew!

To end our night, we decided to head on over to see our friends at Rain. When we walked in, we noticed that strip show host Bobby Cook was MIA (apparently because he was in California for the UT game) and we were terrified that we wouldn't get our weekly dose of Rain's amateur strip show. But have no fear, our friend Texas was on hand with one of his contestants named Kelvin to save the day.

A couple of other cute boys caught our eye out on the patio and we decided to go "introduce" ourselves. Jonny and Jorge turned out to be two of the sweetest guys that we have ever met, so we had to share them with you. While talking and enjoying a couple of cocktails with our new friends, we realized that we had missed most of the show. It's amazing how time flies when having a good time. We rushed the stage before it was all said and done in order to catch one more photo of contestants Peter and Michael. Thanks once again Texas for showing us a great time!

As always, it was a fun trip around Austin this week and don't forget to check out what trouble we can stir up next week!

DALLAS TEA

As we mentioned last week, Mickey's closed and Benny was adopted out to a good home at Woodys. He's a natural fit with all those jocks and sporty guys. So if you'd like to be Benny's athletic supporter and bar stool regular, c'mon by! Watch the game on the big screens or watch just Benny. It's all good.

Continuing our quest to find out where all the other Mickey's expats ended up, we headed to The Brick. Be still our hearts when we spied Tyler behind the bar with his big smile and tan. It turns out he just returned from a month long holiday abroad at a tropical haven. If you want plus Randy, Alfonso and Oscar! The leather

Chance who were celebrating the Cowboys' win that evening (ok, ok, stop laughing). Well, they did have Cowboy swag even though they don't follow baseball, er, football. Meanwhile Weitser, Tommy and Dustin were supporting the gayborhood community through their beverage purchases. If they had a VIP room based on purchases they would SO be invited!

DJ Reggie was spinning downstairs on stage. Had he been doing requests, we would have asked for "Don't Cry of Me Argentina". If you know bartending beaux Stephen and Kenley, get out your Kleenex, ahem, since you will be crying when you hear they bartends in his undies. We don't know if it's boxers or briefs so we'll have to do further research and get back to you. Pray for warm weather soon!

Heading back to the strip, we stopped by the Round Up and ran into our buds Andrew and are moving later this month. The Denver-bound duo and soon to be Colorado couple is having their goodbye party at Rush on 1/20 and only working a few days after. Looks like things will be getting hotter in Denver.

Now, where did we park that car... Thanks for reading Dallas! Keep warm!

miss an event at this hospitable hot spot.

Speaking of Hot Spots, we cannot wait for ours at the Hottest spot in town for the Super Bowl, George! George left us a message that all the screens will be on and the Country Western Sports Bar with a neighborly feel will be packed to the hilt! We cannot wait! Munchies and MEN!

Lamp DJ Special K was dropping a beat while rumors were flying about that the Real Drag Queens of New York City star, Sherry Vine will drop in soon! We just know our area. snow and ice have dusted us lightly over the winter but the steam rises at Meteor! Just check out the steamy, sexy dancer in the showers! We spied the Youtube video of Zeb Atlas' performance over the holidays. What a handsome man, and what a show! I cannot believe the images we snapped.. trust me that are NSFW! And sadly a bit too "wet" for us to print! Our hearts pounded as Zeb pulsated in the misty, moist spray... oh wait... back to reality!

Freezing temperatures set records across

that Justin and Steve will be there along with Chad, Jimmy and Lee! We know because cause they were in attendance when Lady Bunny pulled her last stunt on stage! Outrageous! But you had to be there! They never caught the shuttle bus running between the coolest place on earth, South Beach, and points beyond it's doors, namely Meteor! The party never stops, just passes to and fro as we go! Just ask Kory, it ain't cold hunny! Trust, if we looked like that, we would still have been bundled up this time, but we love the eye candy tattoo he was sporting!

With the Crowning of Mr. and Miss EJ's Yesennia St. James and Adam on New Years Eve, we are pleased that Roxanne dashed us a MySpace message and sent us an email with the crowning moment captured forever.

Over at In and Out, we ran into Tony, Jeff, Christopher, Thomas and Cliff braving the cold and warming their spirits in the Heights! You cannot keep a good buddy from heading out for a stiff one, even if it is an icicle hanging from someone's nipple ring!

The classiest show bar around, TC's is showcasing nightly events, with performances all week long! We enjoy catching a diva moment there and also the great staff! Keecha will let you know it is her favorite hangout! We spied Galveston sister, Symphony Oz in from the Island to support the gals performing that evening! Much love to our Galveston friends at 3rd Coast Beach Bar!

Finally, we had an itch to scratch and needed a Daddy to do it, so we headed over to Blackhawk Leather for our supplies ala Daddy Bob and ran into Jeff, David, Christopher along the way there! The hunky men were hanging with us at the Ripcord while the temperature steadily dropped. We barely made it home, but that is another story Houston!

SAN ANTONIO TEA

We are still winded from the New Year's Eve spent handing out Find Fred.com Dog Tags at the Bonham Exchange, but the party is never tardy there, so we weren't either. We perched ourselves in front of Paul, John and Dave and prepared for the evening's tour de force. Needless to say, we were delighted at congenial Mark and KeyLeigh at the door. Immediately we spied DJ Cici, Mark and Jesse, out to see the first of two Grand Openings of the weekend. We had been following DJ Cici on Facebook regarding the event, while en route, we love that app on our phone.

The club was crowded and we sought out the fab Lauren and Alyiana, the goddess for a quick shot and took in the beautiful atmosphere that is The Pointe.

the lovely Angle, Seleste and Alyssa, prancing around the club. After seeing them make several laps through the room, we headed off to meet Mario and run around San Antonio, documenting the 2010 early year Tea.

The grand opening of The Pointe was the first stop on our journey. Based on the north side of the Alamo City, we were greeted by the

We just had to start at the end of the strip, once we headed in to town, at The Silver Dollar Saloon. DJ Sean was spinning music on the main floor and folks lined the bars so we saddled up at Peter's bar for a moment of gossip about the former venue the Silver Dollar occupied. We avoided the lethal shot that he prepared for us last time we were in his presence, but just in case... Miss Mario was driving, Designated Sister at the Wheel! We see our buddy, Paul Facebooking all the time, time to harvest, gail!

Next down the lineup, just past Zebra'z, we dashed in to catch a quick moment of the show with Erica Andrews, Shady Lady and Paige Taylor. The girls backstage were a buzz about the newest addition to the strip, Sparky's! Yes, ladies, we were headed there, too but it was a journey as the crow flies... or as the tpsy stumble!

Our bestest Big Daddy Matthew and the Lady Lorraine were hanging inside the Saint when we arrived, we had caught Matt's post about heading out to the strip. Just back from a road trip to Vegas, they were happy to be out and about in their home town!

Then it was off to the Grand Opening of Sparky's Pub! Located between the Saint and Pegasus, in the former Silver Dollar location, Sparky's had been the most discussed topic on the Strip! For those of you who hadn't heard about it all, we had been told many things would appear behind those doors, coffee house, card shop, jewelry store... but what a pleasant surprise. If you will remember, we dashed out a week or so ago to the press pre-party while the Pub was still under construction. Notice the logo, with the images that surround it. Many San Antonio memories are there! Paula, Tandi and more are featured in a historical style surrounding it. Imagine our renewed delight of the evening (see Dasher, Dancer and Prancer earlier in the column) we never imagined we would see the classy Ms. Mimi bartending! We congratulated Randy and Pete, here seen beaming with pride over their new creation. Sparky's is just as incredible as our dearest Vikki said in her Facebook post (poke, poke!) Hey! I have to serve my Cafe!

With Mario at the wheel, we dashed past the strip and over to the 2015 place where Serge always serves up a sexy smile. A former TWT coverbabe, he is always happy to see us drop in.

The party had ended, but only temporarily we will return next week with more from SA-Town Tea!
